KOREA REMEMBERS

OFFICIAL INVITATION

Dear American Service Veterans and Friends:

More than a quarter century has passed since the beginning of the Korean War in which military forces from sixteen United Nations countries engaged in battle along with the people of the Republic of Korea. Through your sacrifices, assistance and service of your country, Korea remains a Free Nation. It is a country that one can hardly recognize from the troubled times of our fight for freedom.

Today Korea is one of the fastest growing and most prosperous nations in the Orient. Without your help and the support of your countrymen, our advances in the principles so dear to all men of freedom would not have been possible.

We have adopted this program with the theme, 'Ambassador for Peace', in your memory. We would like for you to visit Korea to see for yourself the magnificent advances which your service has made possible. We offer you hotel accommodations and other arrangements in Korea for six days (including most meals) free of charge as a gesture of our appreciation. We will be honored to welcome you at most cordial receptions and to award a certificate as an 'Ambassador for Peace' to you, plus a special medal commemorating your visit and our gratitude.

We invite your families to join you so they may share in the meaningful joy which will be evident in our welcome. Time will be allowed for you to enjoy the pleasures of our country as you wish, too. We sincerely hope you will take advantage of this opportunity to get a fresh view of Korea and a chance to renew your acquaintanceship with our land and our people with whom you have stood shoulder-to-shoulder in battle and in the cause of peace.

Maeng Kee Lee
Vice Adm. Ret.
President
Korean Veterans Association

Jwah Kyum Kim

KOREA . . . "the New Pearl of the Orient"

There has probably been no greater advance in the development of a country over a 25 year period than in Korea. Veterans who remember the war-torn, backward country of 1950-53 will be astonished at this marvelous new republic which has been developed with the assistance of the United States and other United Nations, yet more so out of the determination and pride of the Korean people. The impressive skyscrapers, modern highways, and thriving industries are indications of what a proud people can accomplish.

Korea today is a land of great natural beauty with a culture of more than 4,000 years. Temples and shrines as old as any on earth are still to be seen. It is a fun country where exotic Korean entertainment, lilting folk music, graceful court dances, and old-style traditions bring out the best in the spirit of happy people.

Korea is a shopper's paradise with modern department stores and shopping arcades offering first-quality merchandise at prices far below those in other nations of the Far East or the West.

Korea is indeed "the New Pearl of the Orient." Come and see for yourself! You will be glad you did.
